Headline:
Largely dry Tuesday. Another chilly night tonight.

Today:
Becoming largely cloudy after a bright and cold start, although a few sunny spells may persist in the east. A few showers will develop during the afternoon, mainly in the west, but for most it will remain dry. Feeling warmer. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Rather cloudy with scattered showers in the west, occasionally heavy, but generally dry in the east, with a chance of clear spells at times. A chilly end to the night. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Wednesday:
Remaining cloudy with scattered showers in the west, occasionally heavy, but an improving picture elsewhere, with bright skies and a few sunny spells developing later. Largely dry in the evening. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Largely dry and bright on most days, but a few showers in the afternoon. Mostly clear with a chance of frost overnight. Perhaps cloudier and less cold on Saturday.
